

In order to ensure your table long life and continued playing appeal, we recommend that the table is kept under cover in a car port or veranda if possible until it is needed and always use the plastic cover provided when the table is not in use. Follow the instructions below for longer life.

Standard cleaning

Clean your table regularly by rubbing its surfaces with a damp cloth to eliminate dust and other dirt residuals.

Deeper Cleaning

You can use any household detergent which does not contain wax or abrasives, having care to completely take it off.

Ammonia-based cleaners, scoring compounds, or solvents such as acetone, gasoline, etc. should absolutely be avoided, as these will damage the colours, especially those of the cabinet.

Use of protection cover

Cover the table after playing every time, no matter what the weather. We have included a cover specifically designed by Garlando, made in a water-proof material. It protects the table both from rain and from the sun bleaching effects, and prevents the dust from blocking the roller bearings, which may cause an inadequate bar running.

Bars and bearings

Garlando roller bearings do not require any lubrication. However, should you wish to furtherly improve their smoothness, employ a good quality silicone spray, such as Garlando's proposal Slidy, which has a lubricating and protective double action.

Be careful not to use any vegetal or any other type of grease which may attract dirt and clogg the roller bearings.

If your table is kept in a sea area, to protect the bars from the salinity corroding action frequently spray them with Slidy.

Snow

The table should not stand in snow for protracted periods. For an extra protection, do not leave your table outdoors throughout the winter season, when not in use. You may keep it in your home, to enjoy it indoors, or you may also leave it protected under a veranda.
